

redwinebuzz.com

wine is a beautiful thing... ©

Instructions for citing redwinebuzz.com content.

redwinebuzz.com grants permission to wineries, distributors, retailers and other publications to cite and quote the content and wine reviews published on this web site only under the following two conditions

1. The cited or quoted material is attributed to redwinebuzz.com.

Please use all lower case letters for our name:

i.e. "redwinebuzz.com", not "RedWineBuzz.com" or "Red Wine Buzz".

We recommend the following format for citing:

- 'redwinebuzz.com: ## points', or:
- '## points, redwinebuzz.com', or
- for longer text, please use quotation marks: "text, text, text, text, text, text, text." - redwinebuzz.com

2. If citing redwinebuzz.com content on a website, please link to the original review or article.

The redwinebuzz.com logo may be used in the context of the citation but may not be altered in any way or used for any other means without explicit written permission. Logo may be downloaded at: <http://www.redwinebuzz.com/logosmall.htm>

This logo may also accompany a link on your site to redwinebuzz.com.

A little fine print.

* We are always flattered when a redwinebuzz.com article or review is cited. However, giving credit where credit is due is just plain polite. We work hard and hold ourselves to pretty high standards when writing and reviewing wines and we do our best to attribute content that we did not generate to its original authors. U.S. copyright and intellectual property laws protect original content. Without citing source, a reproduction of original content constitutes a violation of those laws and may warrant legal action. redwinebuzz.com allows its content to be used only if cited in the manner specified above.